Francis Senden Student Center (ASI Hostel)

Francis Senden Student Center (ASI Hostel)

ASI's on-campus living facility is the four-storey Francis Senden Student Center (ASI Hostel). It was built in 1995 through the financial assistance of Misereor, a German funding agency.

The Hostel, which is subsidized and managed by the Institute, provides rooms primarily for full time ASI students particularly for those who come from the provinces and other countries in Asia. It has 53 single rooms with electric fan and airconditioned rooms (6 double occupancy and 2 single occupancy).

Activities such as ecumenical prayer services, birthday celebrations, Christmas parties, outings and farewell parties are part of the fellowship activities to build camaraderie and sense of community among the hostellers.

Asian Social Institute (ASI)

The Asian Social Institute was established in 1962 by Rev. Dr. Francis Senden, CICM, with the aim of forming socially oriented Asian leaders from all sectors and strata of society towards socio-cultural transformation. Since the passing of its founder in 1973, ASI has continued to work the fulfillment of its vision on social transformation towards justice, peace, and integrity of creation. Ensuring its socio-cultural rootedness, it provides a learning environment which is structured in three interacting departments - the Academe-Research, Social development and Administrative Services. ASI's thrust is to contribute to an experientially and culturally based theory of social transformation, giving importance to the person and community and their essential relationships as well as the creation of social climate which enables persons to achieve their full human potentials towards community wealth and well-being.
